

Redevelopment Program Tops $2 Million

$500,000 Gift — Col. William B. Currie (center), retired Indianapolis orthodontist, presents a gift of $500,000 (a coin collection) to Saint Joseph's "Brick by Brick" campus Redevelopment Fund. Accepting the gift are former Indiana Congressman Charles Halleck (left) the campaign Chairman and Father Charles Banet (right), President of Saint Joseph's College.

Thanks to the largest individual gift in Saint Joseph's history, a $500,000 contribution represented by a coin collection from Col. William B. Currie of Indianapolis, the Collegeville redevelopment program has surpassed the $2 million mark.

The gift of Col. Currie, a member of the Board of Trustees, and parent of Alumni William '64 and Robert '65 is the initial pledge in the Brick-by-Brick campaign. The Hon. Charles A. Halleck, long-time Congressional leader and campaign Chairman, says "Col. Currie has made us all deeply aware of the importance of the privately supported college and its significance in today's world. This initial gift will lead the way toward a successful redevelopment program."

Father Charles Banet, college President, explains "our campus redevelopment plan of $3.5 million was given a terrific boost immediately after the fire when the Neighbor Fund and foundations (Ford Motor Company, Lilly Endowment Inc., A.Y. McDonald, Rilke Corp., Fred B. Snite, William M. Scholl and U.S. Steel) in addition to our insurance gave us a $1.5 million base to begin our program."

"When you use the word 'total,' it at first sounds rather ominous, but we have been blessed with a Board of Trustees that has worked hard hours to make this campaign successful," says G. Richard Schreiber, Chairman of the Board. "These same Trustees are prepared to work long hours in the future with architects, corporations, foundations and campus personnel to guarantee a viable Saint Joseph's College."

Belief in the college begins at home, and the college's official family spoke this belief loudly when everyone from janitors and dishwashers to faculty and administrators pledged more than $20,000 in the first week of the campaign.

"Our students have been one of our greatest sources of pride in this campaign," reports Fr. Banet. "Not only did they save records during the fire to keep us operating, but they stayed on campus to help us re-establish administrative functions, and they have and are contributing thousands of dollars to the redevelopment program. Moreover students serve on committees where the college makes the decisions that will influence this school's future."

During their summer meeting, the Alumni Board of Directors established $300,000 as the alumni goal in the redevelopment campaign. To date, 14 alumni chapters have held fund-raising kickoff dinners and ten more are approaching.

James E. Madden '64, Chairman of the alumni campaign, stresses "the success of the entire program, especially the alumni portion, lies in everyone doing his part."

In the first month alone, alumni contributions topped $30,000, and by Jan. 1, more than 1,000 more alumni will be solicited for pledges. "Alumni interested in working on the campaign should contact the campus Alumni Office," says Philip J. Wilhelm '63, President of the Alumni Association.

"Since September, our Brick-by-Brick campaign has netted more than $700,000, bringing our total to $2.2 million, when you add to this the $1.5 million base we began with," Father Banet explains. "Current campaign programs have been progressing extremely well, thanks to the commitment of all on and off-campus members of the college family, and at the first of the year, we'll begin visits to foundations and corporations with specific programs for funding."

Trustees Adopt Phase One Plan

Saint Joseph's Board of Trustees has unanimously supported the first phase of the Wollen Associates architectural rationale of the campus redevelopment plan, calling for remodeling and renovation with an eye for maximum efficiency in use of already-available space.

Father Banet, College President states, that "After two months of architectural and engineering study on campus, the inequities of our unused and under-utilized space came into focus. But the same studies have also shown that available campus buildings are sound and serviceable for the long-range future. The wisdom of renovation rather than new construction is obvious. To recycle existing space through a renovation and remodeling program could be done at a far lower cost, particularly since studies have shown the college is actually 'space rich'."

In reality renovation has already begun, with the wise use of the interest from the fire insurance money for paving campus roads and parking lots plus improvements in dormitory showers.

With the Trustee decision to adopt a policy of renovation, campus redevelopment will pro-

A Christmas Message

GOD'S LOVE FOR US WAS REVEALED WHEN GOD SENT INTO THE WORLD HIS ONLY SON — (I JOHN 4:9)

Dear Alumni:

The Christmas story is concerned with love. On the surface, we are taken up with all the pleasant incidentals we associate with Christmas time: Children excited and happy with a paradise of shiny new toys and freedom from school; grownups equally excited about exchanging gifts and visits home to relatives or friends. All of us bask in the aroma of the fir trees, and most of us dream of walking home from Midnight Mass in clean white snow.

Each of us in some vague way knows these are not the most important things. Yet they are related to Christmas and do reflect the love of God for us. This is so because Christmas is a story about giving (God's gift to us) and also of receiving. At his birth Jesus was helpless and could give nothing, he had to receive. Receiving is just a little harder than giving. But this is what love is all about, giving and receiving.

During the past year Saint Joseph's College has been in a kind of helpless condition too, and it has been on the receiving end. The prompt response of our students during the fire of February 4, the immediate concern shown by our good neighbors in Rensselaer, the reaction of the Board of Trustees, the alumni, and parents are all responses of love.

Often our pride is hurt because we are poor and forced by circumstances to accept a dole; we are sick and must be cared for by others. When we appreciate that we have the example of Jesus' helplessness at the Nativity, we understand that in receiving help graciously and gratefully, help from our fellow men and most of all help from God, we are in imitation of Christ.

Our prayer this Christmas must be that we understand that love is both giving and receiving. Then we can respond to the admonition of Saint John: "My dear people let us love one another since love comes from God and everyone who loves is begotten by God and knows God."

(I JOHN 4:7)

Tax Laws Favor Saint Joseph's Donors

The out-of-pocket cost of giving to education is lower than many think. That's because the tax laws contain a number of favorable provisions affecting charitable contributions.

Your decision to support Saint Joseph's College is largely a personal one. There are almost as many reasons to give as there are persons who give. However, the way you choose to make your contribution may have certain practical money-saving effects.

According to the Internal Revenue Service, you may deduct up to 50 percent of your adjusted gross income for contributions to Saint Joseph's College. This means that a person with an income of $20,000 can give and deduct up to $10,000 a year. If you wish to make a gift of over 50 percent of your income, the law provides that you may "carry over" any deductible amount in excess of that figure and deduct it in the following year, for up to five years.

For the person who finds it advantageous to give property instead of cash, there are several considerations to keep in mind. If you own appreciated assets, selling them and then giving the cash proceeds to us results in a taxable capital gain to you. However, if you choose to give us the appreciated property, you'll instead be able to claim a tax deduction — just as you would for a gift of cash.

If you own property, securities for example, which has decreased in value, it would be unwise for you to make us a gift of these securities. In this case it is suggested that you sell the securities so that you may realize a loss which you can use to either offset capital gains, or to reduce your taxable income. You could then donate the proceeds of the sale to us. By selling the stock and donating the proceeds, you gain the benefit of a loss deduction and a contribution deduction.

You may also be in a position to consider a "bargain sale." Under a bargain sale, the donor sells his property to us at a much lower price than the current market value — usually the amount he paid for it. Making a contribution in this manner allows the donor to recoup his original investment and give away the appreciation. You may be liable for some capital gains tax, but only the portion that is "sold" to us.

Many people prefer to make gifts of insurance instead of some other asset that produces income which the donor would also lose. If you wish, you may cash in your policies and donate the surrender value. If, however, you choose to give us the policies, you'll be able to deduct the cash surrender value on your income tax return.

Some Corporations Will Match Your Gift

If you make a contribution to Saint Joseph's College and are associated with a company that has a matching gift program, you can arrange to have a second gift sent to Saint Joseph's courtesy of your company.

That's right, your contribution may be worth twice the amount that you donate, and the procedure for arranging a matching gift is quite simple.

First, ask your employer if your company has a matching gifts program. If it does, inform the appropriate person at your company when you make your contribution. A matching check will be sent to Saint Joseph's soon thereafter, indicating that your gift made the matching gift possible.

If you wish to give us some type of tangible personal property, the tax benefits of such a gift will vary depending on whether or not we use this property as part of our regular operation or sell the property for the proceeds. If you plan to make such a gift, you should consult your tax advisor for more information.

All of the types of contributions mentioned above are meant to provide immediate assistance to us. You may, in addition, wish to assure future aid to Saint Joseph's. This can be accomplished through what are commonly referred to as "deferred gifts," including bequests in your will, trusts, and other annuity-type arrangements.

Whatever gift you consider, consult your tax advisor. You'll be able to make a generous gift in support of Saint Joseph's, while realizing a tax savings.

Core: "Shows The Way"

Saint Joseph's exists for one reason: Education. And the Core curriculum with its innovative approaches to high-quality academics reassures college supporters and donors to the Brick-by-Brick redevelopment fund that the cause of this school is one well worth assistance.

Take for example, developments at the recent conference on Intercultural Studies Dimensions in Undergraduate Education. During this conference, attended by college and university presidents, academic deans, faculty and students in international programs, Saint Joseph's Non-Western Core program was lauded for its excellence.

Mr. David Imig, Programs Director for the American Association of Colleges for Teacher

Education, Washington, D.C., drawing upon an earlier on-the-scene study, praised Saint Joseph's for embarking "upon a bold and imaginative effort." He told the conferees that the Non-Western Core program represents an attempt to do "what others have been unwilling or afraid to do... to use its own faculty and resources to create a general undergraduate program in international studies."

Given certain conditions, he continued, "Saint Joseph's College will be in a unique position to show others the way toward the end of fostering a more realistic enlightened and perceptive outlook on the part of its products—citizens in an integrated and independent world."

'47 Grad Has "International Family"

James Wohlwend, a 1947 graduate of Saint Joseph's College, has his own "international family" with the help of adoption through Catholic Charities. He and his wife, Mary Lou, have nine adopted children and one foster child, representing a variety of races and at least 20 nationalities.

A resident of Randolph, Ohio, and a pressman in the B.F. Goodrich Printing Department in Akron, Jim and Mary Lou determined several years ago that life without children isn't much of a life at all.

Warned by Catholic Charities that they may have to wait relatively long for a child, Mary Lou explained "We just want a child, we don't care what color. After all, a child is a child."

Bernida, the first of the Wohlwend children, came all the way from Korea. A year later, a second daughter, Ramona, joined the family from Hong Kong. Soon the girls said they'd like to have a brother and sister, and during the finalization of Ramona's adoption, Michelle, a baby girl of Sioux, Scottish, French and Danish lineage was added.

By this time the Wohlwends had a standing application with Catholic Charities. Mary Lou calls it "unplanned parenthood. We just got started and couldn't stop."

Besides Bernida, Ramona and Michelle, there is John, who is East Indian and Italian; David, of French, Greek and Moroccan extraction; Mary Jane, whose background is Lithuanian, German and English; Lisa, who is Negro, Slovak and Italian; Andrew, from a Polish and English heritage; Angela, of Negro, Irish and English stock; and Jay Thomas, who is German and Negro and living with the Wohlwends as a foster child.

All of the children are told that they're adopted as soon as they're old enough to understand. Each one is aware of his nationality.

"We want them to be proud of what they are and to understand others who appear different," Jim explains. "With this kind of an attitude, I know they won't have any hangups."

Jim recounts one story that indicates how well the children have adapted. "One evening at the dinner table I asked Michelle why she was having so much trouble pronouncing her 'R's'. She tried to explain it by saying she was having trouble because she is an Indian and Indians have trouble pronouncing 'R's.' 'But John is an Indian and he doesn't have that problem,' I said. 'Yea,' she answered, 'but he's a different kind of Indian!'"

DEATHS

Gene Krupa, '26, Yonkers, N.Y., died Oct. 15, 1973.

George Badke, '39, Chicago, Ill., died Oct. 21, 1973.

Cagers Rebuild While Winning

Saint Joseph's enters the 1973-74 season as the smallest and youngest team in the Indiana Collegiate Conference while rushing headlong into the toughest schedule in school history. This would prompt many teams and coaches to apply the "rebuilding" tag to the season, an adjective designed to excuse less-than-desireable won-loss records.

"It's true we're rebuilding after the loss of three key lettermen, but we aim to succeed while rebuilding," reports John Weinert, an optimistic wizard of the hardwood whose infectious enthusiasm has assumed epidemic proportions among his players as well as SJC students and fans.

Two sophomores and a junior may start, and four freshmen are included on the varsity, but young teams are nothing new to Weinert. Last year, two freshmen and a sophomore started and the Pumas finished 14-11 after most pre-season forecasts wouldn't have given SJC more than eight or nine wins.

Size and physical strength won't favor the Pumas this winter, and Weinert admits this places his team at a rebounding disadvantage. "We'll be stressing quickness and alertness, because it's not how big you are but how big you play that counts," he continues.

Weinert anticipates SJC will again display sharp shooting, fueling the one-four offense that he introduced to Collegeville a year ago when the Saints topped the ICC in total offense, field goal accuracy and assists. Special emphasis will be placed on polishing the defense to make it just as effective a weapon as the offense.

SJC shapes up as a well-conditioned team with solid depth. The five lettermen have the inside track on starting jobs—playmaking experts Bill Hogan (sr.-Hamilton, O.) and Pete Santana (soph.-Brooklyn, N.Y.) at guards, fine combination scorers-rebounders Kyle Wiggs (soph.-Ripon, Wis.) and Dave Huneryager (sr.-Hammond, Ind.) at forwards, and the ICC's most valuable player, Jim Thordsen (jr.-Reproto, P.R.), lending his incomparable shot blocking, scoring and rebounding at center.

Freshmen Brett Huus (Nee-nah, Wis.) and Jerry Klamorowski (Milwaukee, Wis.) join Stuart Caulkins (sr.-Kerrville, Tex.), Rich Badovinich (jr.-Griffith, Ind.) and George Mills (jr.-Lafayette, Ind.) as backcourt candidates. Forward prospects include Greg Hammer (jr.-Greendale, Wis.) Alan Rockwell (jr.-Rensselaer, Ind.) and Ron Johnson (fr.-Xenia, O.). Freshman Greg Stegman (Cincinnati, O.) backs up Thordsen in the pivot.

On the junior varsity scene, coach Tom Jackson welcomes 12 freshmen to an 11-game schedule that should give them a terrific learning experience. "We expect a fine year if we are not hampered by injuries, because our offense has improved every day and the defense should be fast and aggressive," he explains.

"We're relatively small, but we're counting on our outside attack to keep opposing defenses honest and permit our bigger men to work under the basket," he adds.

Guard candidates include Cyril Benjamin (fr.-St. Thomas, V.I.), Bob Carr (fr.-Garden City, Mich.), Dave Hood (fr.-Indianapolis, Ind.), Jim Matej (fr.-Hammond, Ind.), Terry Muensterman (fr.-Evansville, Ind.), Jeff Peters (fr.-Perryburg, O.), Tim Schiel (fr.-Michigan City, Ind.) and Curt Symonds (fr.-Wilberforce, O.). Forwards are Jack Dunphy (fr.-Cincinnati, O.), Dennis Sponsel (fr.-Indianapolis, Ind.) and Rick Wade (fr.-Frankfort, Ind.) while Jim Unverferth (fr.-Kalida, O.) plays center.

Versatility adds depth at all positions, because Dunphy and Sponsel can play center and Schiel, Matej and Peters double as forwards.

The varsity's rugged schedule opens with major powers Dayton and Purdue and later entertains Eastern Illinois, Wisconsin-Oshkosh, Northwestern and DePaul, not to mention the home-and-home slate with ICC toughies Butler, DePauw, Evansville, Indiana Central, Valparaiso and Wabash.

The Puma Cubs will wrestle with Purdue and DePaul, plus two games each with DePauw, Indiana Central, Valparaiso and Wabash.

SUPER SHOT SJC All-American

JIM THORDSEN

Jim Thordsen (jr.-San Juan, P.R.), Saint Joseph's All-American candidate, is this year's main attraction, as the Pumas face the toughest basketball schedule in the school's history.

Last year Thordsen was voted MVP in the Indiana Collegiate Conference as a sophomore. The only other player to win the award, in his second year, was Jerry Sloan of Evansville in 1963, who now plays for the Chicago Bulls.

After only two seasons, Thordsen already is in the top 20 of Saint Joseph's all-time scoring list with 825 points, and defensively he has blocked 515 shots. The Puerto Rican native currently holds six single season and individual game records.

Highest FG Pct. in one season, .609 (92 of 151 atts. in 24 games, 1971-72).

Highest FG. Pct. at home, .640 (57 of 89 atts. in 13 games 1971-72).

Highest FT Pct. in one season .832 (74 of 89 atts. in 24 games, 1971-72).

Highest FT Pct. at home .852, (46 of 54 atts. in 13 games, 1971-72).

Most Points scored in one ICC game, 43 vs. Evansville, February 14, 1973.

Highest FT Pct. in one game 1.000 vs. Wabash, February 26, 1972 (9 of 9), vs. Memphis State, January 20, 1973 (12 of 12).

'73 Football Pumas Crack Fifteen All-Time Records

Despite a 3-7 season record Saint Joseph's football Pumas broke or tied 15 all-time school records during the 1973 season, including five individual game marks, five individual single-season records, three team single-game marks and two team single season records.

As a team, SJC fumbled just 14 times in ten games, tying the low mark of 14 fumbles set during the nine game 1967 season. The team also threw 14 touchdown passes to tie the record originally set during the ten game 1956 season.

One team single-game mark was broken and two more were tied. By gaining 325 yards passing in the season-ending 33-24 win over Illinois Benedictine, the Pumas eclipsed the old mark of 315 set at DePauw during the 1969 season. When SJC was penalized just ten yards at Franklin last October, it tied the fewest yards penalized mark originally set against Heidelberg in 1955 and since tied against Central State in 1961 and Georgetown in 1970. SJC gained four first-downs by penalty against Evansville tying a mark set against the Aces in 1968.

Individual records dominated the team's performance in 1973. Jeff Taylor (Indianapolis, Ind.), a brilliant freshman quarterback, established two single - game marks and tied another against Illinois Benedictine. He passed for 317 yards and picked up 330 yards in total offense to surpass the 315 yards passing and 311 yards total offense set by Terry Campbell '72 against DePauw in 1969. Taylor's four touchdown passes against Benedictine tied the mark originally set by Ralph Tite '57 against Butler in 1956 and since tied by Bill Reagan (Lorain, Ohio), against Evansville and Benedictine in 1972.

Joe Pallotta (Medford, Mass.), gained 161 yards pass receiving against Benedictine to pass the mark of 154 set a year ago against the same team by Jim Owens (Chicago, Ill.). Pallotta's two TD receptions against Benedictine plus Larry Olewinski's (Lorain, Ohio), two scoring catches against Indiana Central tied a mark for most TD passes caught in a game that is now shared with ten players.

In individual single - season records, Carlos Phillips (South Bend, Ind.), carried the ball 179 times to bypass the mark of 164 set by Karl Maio '70 in the nine-game 1969 season. Pallotta hauled in 50 passes, ten above the former record set by Mike Sheahan in 1966, and his receptions totalled 694 yards, surpassing the mark of 645 set by Sheahan during the eight-game 1966 season.

Bill Reagan completed 67 of 124 passes to set a .540 completion percentage record, breaking the mark of .537 set by Ralph Tite in 1955.

Myron Moriarity (Mortonsville, Ind.), compiled 132 tackles for the '73 Pumas, passing the record of 124 stops set by John Timme (Indianapolis, Ind.), in 1972.

The 1973 season as a building year may be the start of something good. Head coach Bill Jennings states, "We played many young people who gained invaluable experience, and we hope these young people can now lead us to the success they desire so badly."

Wide receiver Joe Pollotta (sr.-Medford, Ma.) broke the single-season pass reception mark with 50 catches and also the record for the most yards in pass receptions, with 694.

Coach Scharf Optimistic As Fall Golfers Finish With 34-18 Record

Fraser (jr.-Hazelcrest, Ill.) gained valuable experience this fall and next year's freshman class may bring in several quality newcomers.

Golf was formerly a spring sport, but Scharf gives several reasons why the fall season is advantageous.

"First of all, weather is often better in September and October than it is in March and April, and the golf courses are usually more available and in better shape in the fall. Moreover, students playing fall golf are at the start of their semester, not at the end of it as in the spring, and they are not being pressed by final examinations. And lastly, the golfers are in better shape from a summer of playing, whereas in spring golf you're just getting outdoors after a long winter."

Although the following editorial appeared in the Lafayette Journal and Courier in mid-May, we feel it very appropriate for the Christmas season. For most, December is the time for "good will toward men," but as the editorial states "up around Rensselaer they mean it" all year long. ED.

IN OUR OPINION

Good Neighbors

One of the good things about a fire is the way friends and neighbors come to the aid of the stricken with offers of help across the chasm of misfortune they have encountered.

It is no different with institutions than it is with people.

So when a disastrous fire consumed the administration building at St. Joseph College at Rensselaer, there were, along with the kind and comforting words of sympathy, assurances that more concrete help would be forthcoming.

Nice words, and appreciated. But the kind that you hardly can expect to cash in, once grass hides the scars of fire.

But up around Rensselaer, they did mean it. And some three months after the fire, these neighbors of the college have raised and contributed more than $1000,000. (Now $2000,000 to the Neighbor Fund—ED.)

The fund effort by St. Joseph's neighbors will culminate on June 16 with Neighbor Day festivities in downtown Rensselaer. By that time, the total is likely to be much higher.

"After witnessing such support, there is no telling where it all will end," Dr. E. R. Beaver, one of the fund's honorary chairmen, said of the further prospects of the fund drive. Contributions have come in so heavily that the fund office has had to add an extra secretary to record and acknowledge the gifts.

Such an outpouring of help must be doubly gratifying to officials at St. Joseph. The money is of great importance in the finances of a private college. But even more cherished is the evidence of esteem and friendship the neighbors feel for the college—something that might never have been shown so graphically without the measure of the fire.

It is the highest tribute to a college that the community of which it is a part loves and values it. That the reception is the sum total of all the school is and does. And St. Joseph now knows where it stands—not just on the edge of Rensselaer, but in the hearts of its people.

Another echo of the fire was an appreciation dinner at which the Schuyler Lee Robinson Community Award was presented to firemen from Rensselaer, Remington and Francesville who fought the fire on Feb. 4. This high recognition of community service is a living memorial to the late editor of the Rensselaer Republican who died April 21.

It is indeed true that one of the best things about a fire is how great people are in responding to the needs of its victims. The St. Joseph fire has demonstrated this, while providing the means for the college to get started again on building—as they said at another area college after a disastrous fire—one brick higher.

Phase One . . .

ceed toward a goal which will be tailored to the present and future academic and personal needs of the entire campus community.

G. Richard Schreiber, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, points out, "What matters is whether the finished product of comparable quantity and quality can be achieved at a lower cost through renovation rather than new construction. By our decision of November 30th, each trustee now sees renovation as most logical, economical and prudent course of action."

Schreiber adds, "Phase One will be a calculated program wherein all remodeling and renovation will be done within carefully-budgeted priorities to retain and restore the utility and quality of already-existing campus space."

"Although the Board has given its approval, there still will be long hours of work, especially by the Executive and Finance Committees, in the area of debt service (paying off debts following borrowing) relative to Saint Joseph's HEW interest - grant loan," Father Banet explains.

Phase One, of what will eventually be a three-phase redevelopment program, includes student dormitory renovation and remodeling, reorganization and reassignment of academic space to make it more supportive of the unique Core curriculum and all major academic programs.

This phase first considers what was lost in the Administration Building fire: two floors of classes and lecture rooms, one floor of faculty offices and one floor of administrative offices.

Rooms for classes and lectures will be relocated in totally remodeled and renovated areas in the Science Hall and the Halleck Center ballroom floor. Faculty offices also will be relocated in these same areas.

Administrative offices will eventually move to Gasper Hall, following total renovation and remodeling of that structure.

Phase One additionally includes projects necessary even before the fire: total remodeling of the library and annexation of 10,000 more feet of space for that facility, renovation of current Science Hall classrooms and redecoration of eight student dormitories.

Father Banet concludes "With this redevelopment plan, built on the solid foundation of the past, we move confidently into the future assured that Saint Joseph's College will continue on, with even greater strength and resolve, in its mission of Catholic education."

Fr. Banet describes the particulars of the Phase One proposal to the Campaign Cabinet at one of its recent meetings.

Coal Softens Energy

Crisis For Saint Joe

Fr. Paul White, Executive Vice-President, reports "Saint Joseph's is not relying on the fuel supplies of Rensselaer to a point that could prove burdensome during this fuel crisis. We are still encouraging cutbacks in heat consumption in all buildings, as coal consumption needs to be conserved also."

Currently Saint Joseph's College, with its coal-fired steam heat that may have once been considered outdated, backward, old-fashioned and non-progressive, is now being considered far-sighted and highly desirable in view of the oil shortage.

"Economical use of heating fuel is always a major concern for any budget-conscious college," Father White explains. "We at Saint Joseph's have already implemented several programs to conserve energy."
